QuickBooks Answer Sheet - #381

Sales by Customer Report for Past 5 Years

Question:

"Can I create a report that shows me Sales by Customer by Year for the Past Five Years in QuickBooks?"

Answer

Yes – within QuickBooks you can modify a Sales report to show Sales by Customer Name and compare the prior years, allowing you to compare your customer activity over any period of time. Sales figures can be compared as far back as you have transactions in QuickBooks.

Step 1

Via the Reports drop down menu select Sales and click on Sales by Customer Summary. Enter the date range you want to compare sales for (e.g. 01/07/2007 to 30/06/2012) and click on the Columns drop down menu next to the date and select Year. Leave the Sort By option as Default. Click Refresh to view the report on screen.

Step 2

You may also wish to display additional information such as the individual customers sales totals expressed as a percentage of the total sales for that year. This will show who you did the most business with in that year and if that percentage has been increasing or decreasing over the years. This is done by clicking on the Modify Report button and ticking the option for % of Column and then select OK to refresh the report. Further information on how to do this can be found in Answer Sheet #323.
